

View this email in your browser

Building on the results of the survey on the Fourth Universal Apostolic Preference of the Society of Jesus, we are moving forward with the campaign: Jesuits for Climate Justice – Faith in Action at COP30.

It is vital for the Social Justice and Ecology Secretariat (SJES) to be present at SB62 (Bonn, Germany) and COP30 in Brazil. Now, more than ever, we must act as one body—sharing resources, collaborating on projects, and uniting in goodwill—with many partners both within and beyond the Church. Only through this shared mission can we ensure the preservation of our common home.

Our commitment to protecting creation and defending a dignified life for all is central to our mission of Reconciliation and Justice. We have both the capacity and the opportunity—now we are called to respond with courage and responsibility. Let us heed this call and work together to build a world where all may “have life, and have it to the full” (John 10:10).

Click here for Policy Brief

Sign the Global Statement

Download - Social Media Kit

Pope Leo XIV sent a video message to the rectors of the universities participating in the meeting of the Network of Universities for the Care of the Common Home in Rio de Janeiro. The meeting was held on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of Laudato Si’ and in preparation for COP30.

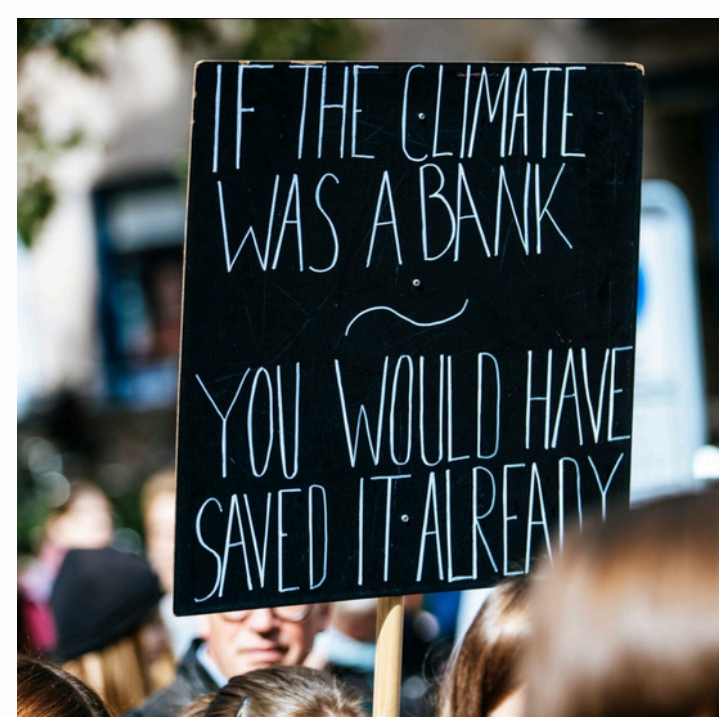

The Catholic Church marks the 10th anniversary of "Laudato Si', on Care for Our Common Home" and reflects on Pope Francis' legacy of calling for ecological conversion. Pope Francis's teachings on integral ecology, social justice and climate action deepened Catholic social thought and broadened the global dialogue about the environment.

Read More: With Laudato Si', Pope Francis firmly planted ecology into Catholic social teaching.

The “organic way of living in harmony” is loudly voiced by the Agatho organic farm in Cisarua, Indonesia. The slogan embodies an agricultural movement that has been developed since 1984. A striking word from the expression “harmony.” Harmony with nature and the environment is a must in organic farming. Without it, organic farming cannot be practiced properly.

Read More: Living in harmony through organic agriculture

Jesuit Missions has joined dozens of others in writing to the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, arguing him to announce “ambitious” international finance package and to fairly tax the biggest polluters and wealthiest in our society.

Read more: Taxing Polluters And Mega Rich Could Provide £115bn Of Climate Finance, Letter To Keir Starmer Suggests

As the curtain came down on COP29 in Azerbaijan, last year, many of those who took part weren't sure how to feel. What can we learn for COP30? Read More: A Fair COP? What Last Year's Conference Can Tell Us About The Upcoming COP30

Jesuit Dani Villanueva, General Coordinator of the International Federation of Fe y Alegria, addressed the Administrative Council of the Canada Jesuits International (CJI) sharing about the profound challenges facing international collaboration today, and how global Jesuit networks are responding with creativity, courage, and a deep commitment to their mission.

Read More: International cooperation needs boldness and humanity

Watch these videos to see how the climate crisis is affecting people's lives, and hear powerful calls to action from Ineza in Rwanda, Shreya in Nepal, Gabriel in Sierra Leone, and Gladys and Solomon in the Solomon Islands
Website: Christian-aid

